---

Title:

The Gospel according to Matthew, named after its author. Not the Gospel of Matthew, but the Gospel according to Matthew.

Author:

Written by Matthew. Tradition tells that this is the same Matthew, also known as Levi, who was a tax collector until he was called by Jesus.

Occasion and Purpose:

To tell the story of Jesus, especially to a Jewish audience. Matthew highlights Jesus as the fulfillment of the Old Testament, especially the Davidic Kingship. Jesus is also highlighted as the new Moses, authoritatively interpreting and re-giving the covenant instruction. Jesus re-inaugurates God's people, living in covenant relationship with Him, and seeing His rule extended to all people.

Themes:

1. Church – New Israel
2. Higher Righteousness
3. Authority of the King
4. Fulfillment of OT Hope
5. Identity of the King
6. Kingdom of Heaven

Summary:

Jesus is the fulfillment of the OT hope, the promised Messiah, Son of David. Jesus is the new Moses, the giver and authorized interpreter of God's instructions. Jesus' church – the New Israel, is given the charge to carry on His teaching ministry by making disciples of all nations, and the Gospel of Matthew serves as a teaching manual to aid in that task.
